Gilead calls meeting on boat ramp, Comp Plan

By ALISON ALOISIO

At a special Town Meeting planned for next Wednesday, Gilead voters had been scheduled to consider whether to allow town land to be used as a boat launch.

They were also scheduled to decide whether to update the town's 1993 Comprehensive Plan.

But as of yesterday (Wednesday), it was uncertain if the meeting would actually take place.

Administrative assistant Beverley Corriveau said late Monday the meeting had been cancelled because there were not enough selectmen available, or willing, to sign the warrant.

The board has three members. One, Mark Wigley, was out of town, she said.

Her husband, Fernand, is also a selectman. He refused last week to sign the warrant because he opposed a new boat landing, she said.

But, she said, he changed his mind early this week and agreed to put the question before voters.

The other selectman, Paul Handlen, believed until Monday that the meeting would not take place because of Fernand Corriveau's refusal to sign. Two signatures are needed to authorize a meeting.

Handlen learned late that

Upton selectmen seek more money for roads

By MICHAEL DANIELS

After rebuilding approximately 300 feet of East B. Hill Road, Upton now needs to rebuild its road budget.

The project ate up $31,500 of the $45,000 the town had budgeted for road maintenance this year.

The selectmen have scheduled a special Town Meeting for Thursday, Aug. 17, at which they are expected to ask voters for $20,000 to replenish the maintenance account.

While the washed-out section of road has been rebuilt, it has not been repaved.

That will probably be put off until next year, according to Town Clerk and Treasurer Jim Rector.

The second article on the warrant for special Town Meeting would authorize the selectmen to purchase a larger used snowplow truck.

The money for the purchase has already been raised, Rector said.

If voters approve the purchase, the town's current 1999 plow truck would be relegated to a back-up role.

There is no price attached to the article, since the selectmen have not yet located a vehicle.

They expect to spend in the neighborhood of $20,000, Rector said.

The Aug. 17 meeting will be held in the Upton School Building, beginning at 7 p.m.

First Performing Arts Festival is underway

By ALISON ALOISIO

The inaugural Maine Performing Arts Festival got underway in Bethel last night (Wednesday), and will continue through Sunday.

The new festival is intended to be reminiscent of an Old English Country Festival.

There will be daytime shows by street performers on the common and throughout the village.

Bingham Auditorium will be the setting for performances of "The Servant of Two Masters," a classic Italian comedy, and "Telling Tall Tales," two traditional European folk tales adapted by festival artistic director Andrew Harris.

"The last two weeks have been a wonderful experience for many in the town as Andrew Harris and his actors have worked at preparing this week's performances and joined many local folks in their homes and in the restaurants and pubs during the evening," said organizer Dutch

Terry Povelite's home is her float

By ALISON ALOISIO

Tulips, tiki torches, and tin men.

They might not seem to have much in common, but along with dozens of other items in — and on — Terry Povelite's home, they're all woven together in a patriotic theme.

Povelite has lived on South Main Street (Route 5) in Andover for four years.

She said she's always decorated outside her house for holidays, and has continued the practice at her current home.

But she took it to new levels beginning two years ago, when her brother's Marine stepson, Jeff, was sent to Iraq. "That's when I really went all out with the USA," she said.

Starting with her existing patriotic holiday decorations, Povelite has built the outside of her home into a shrine to America. It stays up all summer.

On the porch there's a six-foot Uncle Sam (who doubles as Santa at Christmas); two tin men painted red, white and blue; a plastic blue bucket with a tiki torch and tulips planted in it, flags, bunting and dozens of other items.

Povelite makes or adapts most of her decorations. "A lot I make from tin cans I get from my family," she said. "And there's lots of cans of spray paint."

Last summer, she arranged stones on her front lawn to spell out "USA," "Jeff," and to represent a star shape.

There's also a sign on the lawn honoring Jeff.

Questions linger on Mayville sewer proposal

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee will hold a joint meeting on Monday, Aug. 14 at 7 p.m., to discuss financing alternatives and potential ordinance amendments related to extension of a sewer main into Mayville.

The selectmen have not committed to the idea of extending the lines, but they have been discussing it.

The discussion was prompted in large part by condo developer Mike Pelletier's offer to contribute $100,000 toward the estimated $528,000 cost of extending the line from the recreational bridge to the site of his development, across from the Irving Station.

A dozen residents turned up at Monday's selectmen's meeting to join the discussion, but they left with many unanswered questions, especially regarding the financing of such a plan.

"It just seems like we're leaping off without very much information about where we're going with the cost," said Mayville resident Norm Clanton. "I have a real problem with saying 'Let's build it now and

100 horses and riders will be camping out in Andover

By ALISON ALOISIO

A hundred horses and their riders will be encamped on the Grimaldi Field in Andover beginning Saturday.

A Massachusetts trail riding club will come to town for a nine-day trail-riding event lasting from Aug. 12 through 20.

"They were looking for a place that would support eight different days of different trail rides," said Deb Cayer of the local Ellis River Riders club.

She is coordinating with Cross State Trail Ride Inc. of Massachusetts to set up the event.

This is CSTR's 37th year of operation. During that time, members have camped all over New England and New York. Riders spend the days exploring the surrounding area on horseback using trail routes laid out and marked in advance.

The club chose Andover for this year's gathering after one of its members came to town last year to ride.

She stayed with Cayer, who had started a business called Memory Lane Vacations. Cayer rents lodging and camping space to horseback riders.

She said the Cross State members thoroughly enjoyed her

SUPPORT LOCAL FARMERS

To the Editor:

I was very pleased to read about the new guidebook, "Handmade in the Northern Forest." It sounds like an excellent resource for our area.

The article mentioned the book had "marketplaces," and I hoped local farms and farmers' markets were mentioned. I have an old guide to Cape Cod that I have hung onto for years, partly because it tells where things like that are.

Farms, etc., can change, but I think visitors enjoy finding local produce, etc. And, it is certainly good for us to support our local farmers.

HONESTY LIVES IN A SMALL TOWN

To the Editor:

Last Thursday was a scorcher at my place of work. I'd finished loading the last trucks for the day and set the garbage on my trailer to get rid of it. In my haste I set something very valuable beside it and took off. When I got home I realized my error and rushed to look for it. No luck! Well, chalk one up to stupidity!

On my way home I received a call from a woman. She said that something had flown out in front of her as I pulled from the stop sign. She got out and picked it up with the help of another unknown gentleman. She said she'd be at her work at 9 a.m. and I could get it then.

Thanks to the honesty of Bethany Allen of Re/Max and the unknown gentleman I got it all back.

Honesty lives in a small town still! Thank you again.

SUMMER CONCERTS WRAPPING UP

To the Editor:

The Mahoosuc Community Band enjoys making and sharing music. Here's a big thank-you to all who have supported our band with ads, Buy-A-Song campaign and with your ever presence and support at concerts.

The end of the summer concert on Monday, Aug. 28, 6:30 p.m., provides an opportunity for the community to share our love of music. Bring a lawn chair and sit on the common and enjoy.

This summer several young people have rehearsed with our band. It's fun to see the enthusiasm of the younger musicians from Telstar and Gould Academy. It's great for them to practice with adults, who encourage them to improve.

The band will resume rehearsals on Monday nights at West Parish Congregational Church, starting Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. for the fall season. New members are always welcome. Patricia Boyle Wight is the conductor, with guest appearances from Kathleen DeVore, Jim Chandler and Brian Dunham. Any of them can be contacted for more information.

INDIAN RAID RE-ENACTMENT

To the Editor:

This weekend (Aug. 11-13) promises to be a special time once more in Bethel with the 27th annual Sudbury Canada Days, the Bethel Historical Society's summer heritage festival. Since 2006 marks the 225th anniversary of what has been termed "New England's Last Indian Raid," we are marking this milestone with a special observance largely carried out by the presence of 18th century re-enactors, who will be here through much of the event. On 3 August 1781, six Indians "painted and armed with guns, tomahawks and scalping knives" arrived in what is today Bethel, taking three of its citizens prisoner. In present-day Gilead, they killed its first settler, James Pettengill and the same fate befell Peter Poor in today's Shelburne, N.H. This event struck terror in the hearts of many of the early settlers of the area and was an integral part of the British plan to disrupt the outlying frontier settlements as part of the strategy they employed in attempting to put down their rebellious colony.

We hope there will be a good turnout for the children's parade at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 12, and for the children's old-time games later in the afternoon as well as the always popular ice cream eating contest. With the anniversary of the Indian Raid in mind, the theme for the 2006 parade is "Indians and Early Settlers." Prizes will be awarded for all the children's competitions.

Other events include the Hall Memorial Lecture on Friday evening, and on Saturday traditional craft demonstrations and exhibits, flower show, historical videos, art show, horseshoe pitching, farming/logging exhibit, badminton and croquet tournaments, log driver's bean supper and much more.

On Sunday, there will be an open house at the Lower Sunday River Schoolhouse, a special lecture on New England connected farm buildings, and the weekend will conclude with a hymn sing at the Middle Intervale Meetinghouse.

Everyone is welcome and all events are free except for the bean supper. Let's make this weekend the best Sudbury Canada Days yet!

Executive Director, Bethel Historical Society

IT'S A TWO-WAY STREET OUT THERE

To the Editor:

I am writing in reaction to Mike Stackhouse's and Susan Dorman's letters about sharing the road with bicyclists. Both writers make good points, and I would like to add my two cents. As a motorcyclist, a bicyclist and a car driver I've experienced what each is addressing. To me, it all boils down to being aware of, courteous to and not endangering each other. Bicyclists and motorists need to be diligent about each other, pedestrians, animals and road hazards.

Bikers, please communicate with each other about traffic, pedestrians, animals and road hazards. Ride single file when appropriate (around blind corners) and pull into single file formation as soon as possible. Do not ride in groups of three and four abreast. Communicate with drivers when it is safe for them to pass using hand signals. Pull completely off the road when stopped. Use hand signals and follow the rules of the road.

Motorists, know that this is a popular biking destination and drive prudently. Please be aware of your surroundings when driving. Do not pass a biker on a blind corner, wait until you have a clear line of vision and there is no oncoming traffic. Give a courteous warning with a horn as you are approaching to give the bikers time to pull over. If a biker does not pull over as far and you would like be aware that sometimes it is dangerous for the biker to do so as the road edges are rough and crumbling. This can cause riders to fall for various reasons but is inherently dangerous to both parties. When passing give the riders as wide a berth as possible. If towing a trailer remember its additional width and length and pass appropriately.

As Mike points out, riders are far more vulnerable, which means both driver and biker need to be courteous to and responsible for each other. Don't forget, it does say "Share the Road" and it is a two-way street. Enjoy your summer whether from a motor vehicle or a bicycle.

MIRACLES SOMETIMES DO HAPPEN

To the Editor:

For the past several years I've been living on Route 232 in Woodstock. During that time many animals have come to visit: deer, moose, skunks, foxes, raccoons, a gorgeous bobcat, woodchucks, red squirrels, neighborhood dogs and various stray cats. Amongst these cats are an orange tiger and a grey cat that have come to eat at night for several months. There seems to be no schedule to these nocturnal visitations and these cats are not always together.

A week or so ago both cats did appear the same night and took turns eating on the porch. During the week the grey cat came also during the day. He seemed less skittish than the orange one but wouldn't come when called. My cats seemed to be alright with him hanging around, and one night I found him upstairs playing with my "Honey" cat.

On Sunday, a nice young woman stopped and asked if I'd seen a stray grey cat. I said yes but didn't really think it was hers. She left her number and asked if I'd call when I saw "my" grey cat again. As we said a tearful goodbye, I said "just pray that God's will be done, I'll do the same."

Perhaps an hour later I went out on the porch to call "Smokey." As I was screaming his name something on the deck above me caught my eye. When I glanced up, this beautiful grey face looked back down at me! Can you imagine my joy and amazement?

Grabbing a can of food and racing up the stairs to my room, I lured the cat in and shut the deck door behind him. Leaving him in my room I raced downstairs to call "Smokey's" mom. "You just won't believe this. Your cat is in my room eating supper. Come get him," I breathlessly exclaimed. She said, "I'm ten minutes away, I'll be right there." After a joyous reunion she took him away to his real home and he settled in as if nothing had every happened.

When I think of the cats I've lost in the woods to predators and getting lost, also those killed in the road by careless drivers, the fact this de-clawed house cat survived, even flourished, while at large here in Woodstock is a true miracle. Thank you, God.

TABOR: 'US AGAINST THEM' MENTALITY

To the Editor:

Although those who support TABOR say it would be simple to apply, I do not see it that way. "Taxes may not be raised above the rate of inflation and population growth." The rate of inflation changes every month, is this supposed to be a national figure? Who's job will it be to keep track of this? Do we hire someone, give him or her an office and a staff? "Figures do not lie-but liars figure." How will we be sure their figures are correct?

I have very negative feelings about TABOR. I see it as coming from a bunch of disgruntled people who do not like government and do not trust politicians. It is the same "us against them" mentality that has divided this country. I prefer to place my trust in those who are elected, at least we know what they say they will do, how they vote, and what kind of people they are. Although there are some who are more for themselves than committed to serving the needs of others, I think that most politicians are good and honest people who struggle to do the best they can for their constituents.

TABOR places an unnecessary burden on government. It was a terrible burden in Colorado. I really doubt they will ever return to it. If you care about your children and grandchildren's education and care about progress for the state of Maine, you should vote "No" on TABOR.

LET'S HELP THE KIDS TO TRAVEL

To the Editor:

I am writing to let the public know about a group of young people who are trying to earn money to pay for a trip to Europe in June of 2007. This year they will be going to Italy and Greece. There are currently five students signed up for the trip, but there are at least ten others who would like to go. They are all working to earn their own money and are trying to do various fundraisers toward that end.

This Saturday, the 12th, they will be running a yard sale and Chinese auction at Telstar, and I would encourage everyone to attend. They have also been selling lobster raffle tickets. They sold pretzels during Mollycokett Day and have plans to do much more during the school year. Travel to a foreign country is wonderful at any age, but is especially eye-opening as a teenager -- lives can and have been changed by the experiences. Riding a canoe through the tropical rainforest of Costa Rica, standing in the middle of the church Franco forced thousands of his fellow countrymen to carve out of a mountain in Spain, climbing to the top of the Eiffel tower in Paris, pondering Michelangelo's ceiling painting in the Sistine Chapel, or drinking water from a centuries-old aqueduct after walking through Roman ruins can never be recreated in the confines of a classroom. These things are always best appreciated from a firsthand point of view.

So, once again, I urge everyone to help these students out, if you have a chance. They are eager, hard-working youngsters who are willing to work toward their goal.

FOOTBALL IS BACK AT TELSTAR

To the Editor:

On July 17 SAD44 School Board unanimously approved the return of football for the 2006 season. The Telstar Football Boosters successfully raised over $70,000 and is very appreciative to all of the businesses, community members, and private citizens who donated toward our goal.

The money raised will cover expenses for the program including equipment, uniforms, field equipment and goal posts. Originally the School Board had agreed to fund transportation, coaches' fees, and officials as with all other sports. However, as the result of recent budget concerns, the Telstar Football Boosters have volunteered to cover these expenses for the first year of the program. Insurance costs will not be affected by the addition of the football program.

As the program progresses, football games will eventually be held weekly and will bring in additional funds through admission, concessions, etc. The money raised will continue to cycle through the football program to sustain the longevity of the program.

As with any new program, there will need to be some adjustments made along the way. Let's invest positive energy into this new program and show the students that we all support them in whatever fall sport they choose. We strongly believe that adding football to Telstar's fall sports line-up will provide more opportunities for our diverse population of students.

Equipment was purchased and has already been delivered. The football program will begin this month! During the first year of the program, emphasis will be placed on learning the various aspects of the program with the hope of ending the season with some scrimmage games against other teams. Please contact me (home 824-0360 or cell 890-6115) for more information and/or to sign up. Please pass this information on to any potentially interested players. School district policy requires that all athletes have a sports physical every two years prior to the start of practice. Go Football!

TIME TRIAL THANKS

To the Editor:

We had a record-setting turnout of 89 racers on Sunday, July 30, at the fifth Bethel Time Trial sponsored by the Sudbury Inn. Perfectly clear skies, and a very comfortable temperature made it a truly fantastic day to race. Chris Green won the race handily averaging over 27 mph with a winning time of 28 minutes, 15 seconds. Mary Lou Lowrie was the top female racer. Local cyclist (and volunteer from prior years) Jan Newhouse made a very impressive "First Timer" finish time of 34:15. There were nine racers racing their first-time trial. The other remarkable feature of this year's race was the age range. A total of eight racers under the age of 18 competed, including Matt Braley of Bethel who is 12 years old. On the other end of the scale, our superb senior cyclist, Dave Hatch and George Walsh both raced at a very healthy 83 years of age! Lynn Miller from Springfield traveled the furthest, did his first-time trial, on a borrowed recumbent, and had been up early with his race-organizing son to help set up the event (thanks Dad).

And our volunteers were just a fabulous crew! Thanks so much to Nancy White, Becky Secrest, Dillon Gillies, Janet Willie, Tish Carr, Dale Gilmour, Terri Mills, Merle Ring, Barbara Berger, Sarah Southam, Ed Roberts, Jim Colson-Hendrick, and Lynn Miller. Also, thanks to the Bethel TT Sponsor, the Sudbury Inn and race series sponsor Aegis Bicycles (who again joined us at the race with their amazing display). Hope you all had as much fun as we did.

Finally, special thanks to the American Legion Hall on Vernon Street for the use of their driveways, the residents of Vernon Street for their courtesy and patience toward the cyclists on Sunday morning, and to The Bethel Police, especially Officer Bill Britting, for their help.

Sheriff warns of checking scam

SOUTH PARIS— According to the Oxford County Sheriff's Department, area residents are reporting receiving phone calls with a male's voice stating the first name only of the homeowner. The caller then proceeds to say that he is verifying their checkbook numbers. When questioned he just hangs up. If someone does make a mistake and gives out their checkbook numbers and bank numbers, or if they feel they have given other information out that they shouldn't have, they are asked to call and report it to their bank and local police department. If someone calls and you aren't sure what the call is about, hang up, it isn't rude; it is OK, according to the Sheriff's Office.

day that Corriveau would sign the warrant.

Handlen then objected, saying he had let the issue "slide" in the meantime, and had not gathered information to present at the meeting. He said he would not sign the warrant, leading Beverley Corriveau to say the meeting was off.

By Tuesday, Handlen had reconsidered. He said he could be ready for the meeting, and if the warrant was presented for signing at last night's (Wednesday's) regular selectmen's meeting, he would sign it.

Beverley Corriveau said Tuesday she did not want to comment on the warrant.

The landing

There is currently a privately-owned boat landing on the Androscoggin River, next to Bridge Street, that is available for use by the public.

In addition to individual recreationists, some area guide and recreation businesses also use it to launch their boats.

Rocky Freda of Sun Valley Sports in Bethel recently proposed turning town land across the road from the current launching site into a new boat landing.

He said the existing landing is steep. That makes it hard to launch boats and difficult, particularly for older people, to get into them.

Freda said a new site could be created with a minimal cut in the river bank, and the removal of a few trees.

He also said the area could be made into a "mini Davis Park," a boat landing located near Bethel Village.

"We could make it nice for people to put in or take out, or just have a picnic," he said.

Freda offered to help both with labor and funding for the work, he said.

Handlen said Tuesday he supports the proposal.

"We don't have anything other than the dump for this town," he said. "We ought to have something more to offer the town and the public. We have the land, and it's easy to do."

Beverley Corriveau said she and her husband share the personal opinion that Gilead does not need a park.

An existing picnic area in Gilead, maintained by the White Mountain National Forest, sees little use by townspeople, she said.

She also said a boat landing/park would cost the town for maintenance in the future.

"The town needs revenue, not expenses," she said.

Comprehensive Plan

Also up for discussion is a possible update to the Comprehensive Plan, at an estimated cost of between $3,000 and $6,000.

As development activity in town increases, some residents and officials feel the update is needed to guide the town.

A subdivision ordinance was approved last year. Jack Pucak, chairman of the town's Planning Board, said the town needs to consider more ordinances.

"A Comprehensive Plan is the basis for any further ordinance development," he said.

If an update is approved, the funds would go to pay a consultant from the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments to do most of the work, Pucak said.

"They would take a major lead in doing the revisions, and in gathering town input," he said.

Pucak said a full revision would cost about $6,000. But, he said, "we could probably do what's important for the town for less."

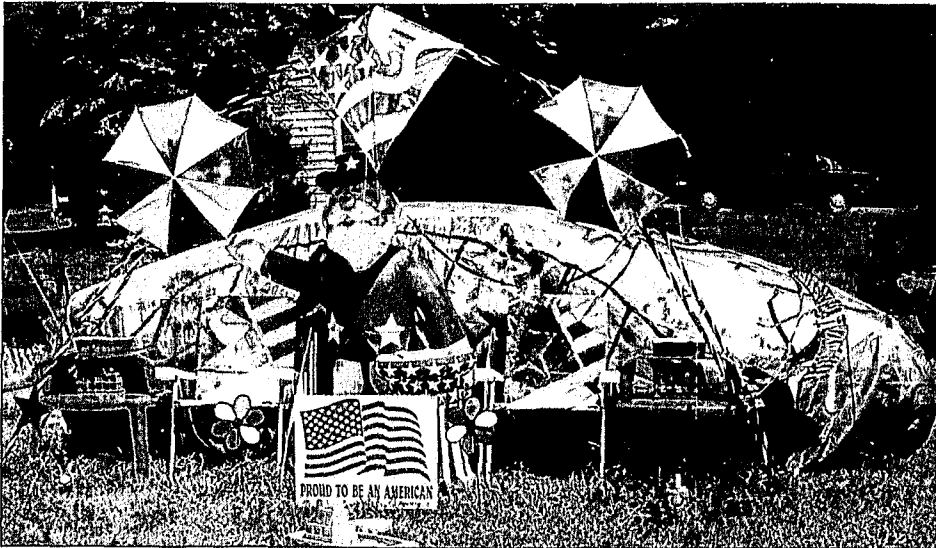

That, he said, would mean revising only the second half of the plan, which deals with land use, at a cost of about $3,000.

The first half covers such information as demographics, Pucak said.

The meeting, if it is held, will begin at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE CAR SHOW

Even one of Terry Povelite's cars plays a role in her patriotic display, serving as a backdrop for more red, white and blue items.

People walking back to Povelite's garden will follow a 40-foot path lined with a red, white and blue "fence" made of old yarn holders that she painted.

Near her garage, located toward the rear of the house, she's covered one of her vehicles with a blue tarp. It serves as a backdrop for more decorations, and helps anchor them in the wind.

This year, she made her displays a round-the-clock exhibit by adding red, white and blue lights all around the outside of the house.

And it's not just the outside that's decorated. Inside, her living room has a red, white and blue theme.

Popular with tourists

Povelite said she has had people from all over the country stop to look at her house and take pictures.

"Some of them have children in Iraq, and others are just taking pictures," she said. "Someone suggested I get a [guest] book."

Many people stopped to look on Andover Olde Home Days, held last weekend. The day's parade goes right by her house.

She said locals have suggested she decorate a float to enter in the parade. But Povelite has a quick answer.

"My whole yard is my float," she said.

stay, and recommended Andover to the club.

The club gathering is a family affair, with participants ranging from children to seniors. The oldest rider this year is in her 80s, and has been participating for more than 25 years, according to a CSTR press release.

Cayer has been helping prepare for the event by arranging daily outings averaging 15 to 20 miles on the more than 100 miles of trails ERR riders regularly use.

ERR shares trails also used by snowmobilers and ATVers. Cayer said the Roxbury ATV Club has been particularly helpful.

"They've even fixed bridges, making them safe for multi-purpose use," she said.

The ATV club has also notified its members of etiquette for meeting horses along the trails. ATVers are required to stop their engines, as well as remove their helmets, Cayer said.

Horses are sometimes frightened by seeing people wearing such helmets, she said.

Others benefit

The schedule also calls for a day off from riding, to allow the Massachusetts riders to go sightseeing locally.

Cayer said local stores have been notified of the trail ride so they can stock up on extra supplies for both riders and horses.

Visitors to the encampment are welcome, according to the release. They are asked to make contact with a club member as they enter the grounds. The best time to visit is in the late afternoon.

Dresser.

"Watching Fred Nolte put the finishing touches on the wonderful Hat Fair program and helping to build the staging for the daily 4:30 high-light acts have led to the anticipation. All of us who have watched countless volunteers and professionals prepare for this week are very excited about what's to come," Dresser said.

saying "Let's build it now and figure out later how we're going to finance it."

Part of that financing is likely to come from user fees, which Town Manager Scott Cole has estimated at $150 a quarter.

That did not sit well with resident Don Chase.

"I don't think already established property owners should be required to subsidize the money-making endeavors of developers," Chase said.

There is apparent consensus on the board that extending the line is in the town's long-term interest, especially given the pace of development in Mayville.

There is no agreement, however, on how to pay for it.

"It's pretty tough to commit town funds when you don't know who is ultimately going to write the check to help pay for it," said selectman Dennis Doyon.

Clanton said that from a strictly selfish perspective he did not want to be one of those paying.

"I have a well functioning septic system that I've already bought and paid for," Clanton said, "so I don't have the need for sewer to run in front of my house, and, accordingly, I don't want to pay for it."

But, he said "From a somewhat more community minded perspective, I'm not philosophically opposed to having sewers in Mayville. I have water to my house and I'm happy to have it."

Developer Ron Savage argued that in the long run both sewer ratepayers and town taxpayers would benefit from the increased taxes development in Mayville would generate.

The tournament was held at Hebron Pines Saturday morning. Julie Bangs and daughters provided a luncheon at their home in South Paris. Then everyone went back to the lake for fun and sun.

Jen Shaw, granddaughter of Bob and Ginny Keniston, participated in the 25th annual Maine State Triathlon and placed second in the women's novice division.

Glenn Bangs (swim), Jonathan Bangs (runner) and Ted McKnight (bicycle) were a team participating in the Triathlon.

Weekend visitors at Mary Eichel's cottage on Songo Pond included Debbie and Jon Knight of Worcester, Mass., Toot and Stan Wentzel of Sunday afternoon, other relatives and friends joining the above for a BBQ were Judy Wentzell and Huey Coleman from Portland, Roni and Lauri Strout from North Waterboro, Megan Wentzell and John Naza from Keene, N.H., Liz Quinn and Tom from New York City.

Justin and Sue Rice and children, Alyssa and William, from Guilford, Conn., are on vacation here and staying at "The Chalet" at Sunday River for the week. The Invitational Freddy II Golf Tournament, in memory of Fred Desroches, will be held at Sunday River Ski Resort on Saturday, Aug. 12, at 12 noon. The event is planned by Ruth Desroches and hosted by Dustin Desroches. The competition will be a scramble, with four-person teams. There will be gifts for winners and most honest teams.

I've been reading with great interest from the booklet titled, Bethel Centennial. On Aug. 26, 1874, a grand centenennial celebration was held in Bethel. The booklet relates what Bethel, then Sudbury Canada, looked like one hundred years prior to their celebration. I thought the readership might be interested in some of this information. I'll be quoting directly from the booklet.

"What were the relations of Sudbury Canada to the rest of the world one hundred years ago? Covered with dense pine forests the hunter did not know the existence of a mountain till he reached its base. The Androscoggin, like a silver thread, wound its way mid mountains and forests, whose banks were covered with tall pines to its water's edge. The pioneer who once reached the place must go by spotted trees forty miles to Fryeburg through an unbroken wilderness; forty miles down the river to Livermore, and forty miles by spotted trees, or by the compass, to New Gloucester. Ascending the river to its source, it was an unbroken forest to the shores of the St. Lawrence. Consequently, for many years after the settlement of the town, when a person came to Sudbury Canada, he was said to 'go through the woods.'

In March of 1851 an extension of the Grand Trunk Railway opened in Bethel. After this the booklet relates, "everything changed at once." Bethel grew rapidly and new homes were built every year. The long hauls overland with horse and wagons to deliver goods and bring back supplies were no longer necessary. Local trade flourished. It would appear that what we are experiencing in Bethel is a second rapid growth brought on by easy access to the area, lots of money, and leisure time. What a difference 250 years make!"

Under miscellaneous information I read this. "The area of the town is 25,920 acres. Its length on the line of Albany and Greenwood is eleven miles and twenty-five rods. Diagonally, twelve and half miles.

There are sixteen islands in the Androscoggin River, the largest containing forty acres. The Androscoggin River runs seventeen miles through the town. The whole length of intervals lands on the Androscoggin River and tributaries, is about thirty-five miles. Nearly all the farms on the Androscoggin are in the possession of the descendants of the first settlers. It is rare that one of them can be purchased. They are an annual source of an immense income to the town."

I need to make a correction. It was George Eypper along with his daughter and his brother Chuck's son that had their working vacation painting the family farm.

Mayville News
By Don Bennett

Mayville is ideally positioned to become energy self sufficient due to its ability to produce large volumes of bio-fuel. In many ways Mayville is much more "old Bethel" today than Bethel Hill. Main Street and Broad Street long ago lost their blacksmiths, harness makers and furniture artisans. But in Mayville the fields are being tilled, corn and potatoes grow; hay for livestock is being cut, baled and put under cover, furniture is being made and fine art is thriving. Nevertheless, during the last five days of interviewing 19 Mayville property owners, eighteen of them had strong "Yes" positions on the question of installing a system of sidewalks and pathways. Almost all residents see the sidewalks as more than recreational do-dads. Now that British Petroleum in Alaska is temporarily shut down, our residents and businesses will see the sidewalks even more than before as important energy saving devices which connect homes and stores.

The main purpose of interviewing all Mayville Road property owners was to determine prevailing views on a public sewer system. Being able to communicate voter-citizen-property owner opinion to the town's board of selectmen was the reason for my traipsing around the village with a census form of short questions. Sixteen owners indicated that they favored a public sewer system; a number conditioned their responses with questions on the details. One owner did not indicate a preference due to lack of any building on his real estate; one owner deferred comment until more information is available; one owner was against the sewer expansion.

If a survey can generate heat, this survey showed that the "heated" question was in the proposed sewer line to Twitchell Brook Estates a.k.a. Mike Pelletier's project. If there is a sewer "ground zero" in the Mayville sewer plan, that zone is from the bridge to Twitchell Brook Estates. Seven of the sewer plan's eight stages involve completing the plan in ground zero before striking out for the River View. Thirteen of the twenty-one owners are located in ground zero. Mike Pelletier is obviously the owner most anxious for a favorable decision from the selectmen and the town. Seven of the thirteen owners gave a "Yes" to the question of connecting Mike to the bridge's sewer pipe. Three said "Yes" if Mike pays for it or kicks in an acceptable pile of dough. One owner deferred comment and one commented that as long as the project did not affect entering his property he had no objection as long as he would not be charged for sewer fees.

If Mike Pelletier gets a public sewer connection (he already expects to connect to the water line) within his development, he can plan on building an additional 16 units over the 22 units approved now. These additional units to you old-time Monopoly players translate into anywhere from $45,000 to $60,000 of additional yearly tax income for the town to pay bills and build Mayville sidewalks.

Out of the entire last four days ending at 7 p.m. Monday evening, the foggiest part of survey taking turned out to be that lack of definite information on rules and costs to individual owners. I call these the Rules of Engagement — when to shoot, when to watch and when to run.

Sometime between 7 and 8:30 p.m., the board of selectmen at their Monday night meeting, attended by ten Mayville residents who represented a good cross section of ground zero's activities except for the food and lodging sector, decided on their next step. Within approximately one week, the town manager is to draw up specific answers to clear the "fog of war" in the Mayville sewer campaign. Barely a word was heard on sidewalks; however, Selectman Jack Cross did speak out that it seemed to him from the survey results that Mayville people really did want sidewalks.

Questions to which answers will be drafted in a week's time deal with costs, financing, real estate tax impact, and the most important issue to individual homeowners in Mayville, rules for connecting to the town sewer pipe if one already has a healthy septic system.

Kathy and I hope that we can someday have public water and sewer service at our house. We see it as long-term insurance for our health and convenience as well as padding the patrimony we can someday pass on to our younger generations. My parents could not live long enough to see the Red Sox win the World Series; we have hopes, however, of lasting long enough for those silver pipes to come our way.

And to end this week's dispatch — remember my telephone number is 824-2094, e-mail to Donald@thebetheljournal.com. info if you have news or questions. If you would like a copy of the completed survey, please call — no charge.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte
It was a perfect early August weekend. Enjoying the clean, fresh air and annual events kept people busy. Diane Williamson and Ginny came upon a monarch butterfly nursery on their property. Milkweed has always thrived in this spot but not much attention was ever paid to it until the discovery of monarchs in all the stages of development were found, from caterpillar to the beautiful flying creature. The caterpillar feeds on the leaves until it becomes too large for its skin. It rubs its face mask off and proceeds to eat the shedding coat which contains lots of vitamins and healthy nourishment. It sheds about four times until it is fully grown. A magical change is then about to happen when it squeezes out a silky liquid to make a ladder of silk. When it finds a perfect spot to rest, it weaves a lacy attachment to hang from. It proceeds from this stage to the chrysalis. Deep within two magic wings are waiting to unfold. After nine to 11 days a fully formed orange, white and black butterfly is ready to burst into flight. It feeds on the Joe Pye weed in their field. There is so much information to read on this marvelous creature and we suggest visiting your library for books on butterflies. "The Butterfly Garden" by Jerry Sedenko and a Williamson's "Good Times Book on Monarch Mag-ic." You will enjoy learning about this miracle of Nature.

Here's a little local news on the building processes around town. Charlie Felt and the Hibbards have put up two great pre-constructed buildings. Foundations and house movings on Mill Road continue to be a work in progress. Andre and Flossie Bernier deserve a standing ovation for the landscaping around the Taylor home. A stone wall was created from the many large rocks removed from the original excavation. All it needs is grass and Carolyn's expertise on flowers.

The Ladies Aid building is another work in progress and in the process of receiving new siding — it's a big job! Gene Wixom is out of state teaching a hunter safety course to a class of 81 people. I would like to thank him for completing many projects on our house while Richard was hospitalized.

The Andover Olde Home Days is always a popular summer event to the "Townies," and the "Out of Townies." The Flower Show is always an event to both participate in and to view. We thank Bev Swan for her invitation to us to participate. Several ribbons were awarded to Upton residents and visitors. The participants and ribbon winners were: Carolyn Taylor, Carolyn Brown, Diane Bouchard, Cindi Robash and Ellie LeComte. We missed Patti Kenyon's annual contribution, but she had a lot of company and flower arranging was not an option.

Visiting Upton this week were Michelle and Ricky Bouchard and their children, Tammy Johnston and her two children, Piper and Seaver. All of the above were Ginny W's grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The Bird of the Week is the great horned owl. Consult your bird book. There is quite a bit of interesting information on them. Jennifer Casey and Diane Williamson spotted one on Saturday. It is such an interesting bird, but too much information to write about here.

Congratulations to Dave Miller, who narrowly missed a beautiful large deer that passed in front of his bicycle on Route 16. Dave was doing a practice run in preparation for a bicycle event.

Enjoy summer as it's going away far too fast!

Gilead

I had an e-mail recently from Howard Reiche to let me know that his wife, "Stevie" had fallen and broken her hip. She is in the New England Rehabilitation Hospital on 335 Brighton Avenue in Portland, ME (zip code 04102). Well wishes and a speedy recovery. I spoke to Howard this past Sunday and she is doing great. They will know better at the end of the week when she will be coming home.

The SAD44 Adult and Continuing Education graduation was held on Aug. 3 at Telstar Regional High School. There were 13 graduates this year, but only eight of them were able to make it to graduation. Some of the graduates finished months ago and have moved on with their lives, such as moving out of state and going to college. One of the graduates was Nikki Tew from Gilead. Her family attended the graduation and the potluck dinner afterward. It was quite obvious just how proud and pleased they were with her accomplishment. The other graduates were Pauline Morgan, Linda Bonney, Amanda Johnson, Tiffany Lego, Bertha Walker, Amy Freeland and Carolyn Bennett.

Hugh and I celebrated our 40th wedding anniversary on Aug. 6. We took a trip to Ellsworth this past weekend to get away and to visit with our grandson, Ben Chapman. Ben left last Saturday to spend a couple of weeks with his father, Chris, in St. Cloud, Minn. He had a great flight out and they were busy making plans on how they would spend their time. A couple of things on the list are to go to a Twins game and to the Mall of America.

When we got home Sunday night, I found a present from my brother, Steve McLain. He left me some produce from his garden. There were several cucumbers and some of those yellow beans that I look forward to each year.

Special Town Meeting

This is a reminder to everyone to attend the Special Town Meeting scheduled on Aug. 16 at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. This is an official Town Meeting so votes will be cast on updating the Comprehensive Plan and creating a boat launch on the Androscoggin River. If these issues are of interest to you, be sure to come and hear the discussions and cast your vote.

Gilead Fire Department

The Young Marines were at Bog Brook Training Facility recently and the Gilead Fire Department, along with Bethel Fire Department and Shelburne, N.H., Fire Department did a training exercise that consisted of an extrication demonstration. There is very little left of the vehicle when they finish showing what has to be done to extricate someone that is trapped inside a motor vehicle.

This past week the GHS received some boxes of artifacts from the Maine Historic Preservation Commission. These artifacts were excavated at various sites along Route 2 in Gilead by the MHPC between 2002 and 2005. Norm Buttrick, historical archaeologist for the GHS, delivered them. Many thanks to Norm.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

Some days I'm sure that West Bethel is turning into a temperate or boreal rain forest. Most nights this past week we've had at least a half inch of rain, not to mention the days of huge downpours. Forget keeping up with the weeds; they've developed root systems that reach to the bowels of the earth.

On the upside, the berries have flourished. Blueberries have really come into their own and are plump and juicy. The blackberries are now ripening at a fast clip, and Jake and I have several berry stops on our morning walk. Jake loves berries, and picks off all the good ones near the ground. Our raspberry patch is about done, but it was great while it lasted.

Another sign of the advance of summer is the closed gentian which has started to bloom. I saw a solitary flower along the forest road the other day, in a place where I know there will soon be others. The closed, or bottle gentian is perhaps eight or ten inches tall and loves to have wet feet, growing in very damp, almost boggy places. The blossom is one to one and a half inches long and is a deep blue (gentian blue of course), and the petals remain closed so that it resembles a closed bottle. The patch I'm familiar with is at the side of the road where there is a great deal of runoff, as well as plenty of water near the surface, and there

Some of you may have heard of a sizeable piece of property for sale in the middle of the White Mountain Forest near Haystack Notch. Serena Williams reports that the District Ranger is trying to identify the twelve individuals who wrote letters to Senator Collins in support of acquisition of that property by the National Forest, rather than letting it get into the hands of developers. If you are one who wrote, please contact the District Ranger, because he needs copies of the letters to support the case for acquisition. If you need further information, Serena asks that you contact her by e-mail at serenajeff@gwi.net.

This past weekend, the Maine Fiber Arts Association held open farm days throughout the state on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. On Saturday, that most perfect of summer days — blue sky, gentle breezes, low humidity — I sat on the porch of the farm shop at Sunday River Alpacas and spun some baby alpaca fleece, specifically Escapade's. There was a steady stream of visitors, all of whom met the alpacas, fed the fish in the pond, and visited the farm store. One little boy who came with his Grammy went home the proud owner of a teddy bear made from alpaca fleece. I asked him the bear's name, and he said "Teddy." Then I learned that he has another teddy bear at home, also named "Teddy!" Melinda Gilbert came to church on Sunday with her grandmother, Marilyn Gilbert, having just returned from a two-week stay in Israel. Melinda went there as part of an interfaith group whose purpose was to promote peace and understanding. They talked with people on both sides of the current conflict, looking for ways to resolve their differences. Melinda reported that she was never really frightened, but I expect her parents were very glad to have her back on home soil.

The Grange Flea Market continues each weekend. The Applins worked one day last weekend, and Jane Hosterman and Barb Mahler, the other. There are still plenty of items available. Proceeds go to help with upkeep of the building, and to finance fair entries, etc.

On Sunday and Monday of this week, we had a visit from a good friend of long standing, Stella Holding of Cincinnati, Ohio. Stella had been visiting a friend on Squirrel Island, off Boothbay Harbor, for several days and decided it had been far too long since she'd last seen Bethel. We had a couple of late-night gabfests, and she had an opportunity to spend time with our Bethel and Cheshire families. Stella has known our children since they were quite small, and now she has met the next generation as well. Isn't it amazing how old friends can pick up right where they left off, no matter how long ago! We wished her bon voyage on Tuesday morning.

As I write this, the sun has been playing peekaboo, and we're hoping for an absence of rain for a change. If you have news, please call or write at 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

If you are a Central Maine Power customer, you have probably seen the little flyers they sometimes put in with your monthly bill; you know, the ones about bundling your water heater up to save energy and those others that say how nice those de-humidifiers are for reducing the humidity and mold in your basement during the hot, humid summer months. This summer I bought a small de-humidifier to dry out our computer room and basement workshop now and then. I've just been running the thing on low and for a few hours a day and have discovered why CMP is "pushing" them. Pre-de-humidifier electric bills ran just over $100 per month. Since I got that machine, my bills run about $149 per month! A little moisture isn't that bad!

Our Maine Civil Air Patrol has 20 cadets and a couple senior members in Scotland for two weeks, starting Aug. 1. They are on an exchange program, and reports indicate they are having a great time. Now we have to get busy and sell lots more motorcycle raffle tickets.

The reason I didn't have a story in the paper last week is that we were in Prince Edward Island for a week with Peg and Joe Perham. We had a great time, and I learned a lot about Canada. First the exchange rate on Canadian currency is currently about 10 to 12 percent. I took little cash, planning to use my ATM card to obtain cash at the official exchange rate, which you never seem to do when purchasing anything at stores or restaurants. Initially, I tried my ATM at a service station and could get no money; then I tried another ATM at a visitor center with the same result. When I asked why, I was told that my Northeast Bank card (American bank) would only work at bank ATMs in Canada. Armed with that information, I easily got money from bank ATMs; $100 Canadian only cost me about $89.00 U.S., after I paid the $1.50 fee for using a "non-Northeast bank."

Another first for me was watching our first P.E.I. campground owner "dousing" for water with coat hanger wires. He had the wires bent into an "L" shape, with the short leg about 4 inches and the long leg about a foot long. As he held the wires by the short legs and walked over a certain place in the yard, those wires swung around in a complete circle. I kept a close eye on his hands and could detect no movement when the wires spun. There must be a good vein of water under his campground! He handed the wires to Peg, and the same thing happened with her holding the wires, except with Peg the wires kept striking the protrusions on her chest.

We all enjoyed the rural and "laid back" environment in P.E.I. There are still farms with open fields all the way to the high-water marks on the coast. The only area that was really built up American style was around Cavendish (because of Ann of Green Gables). That place has wall-to-wall tourist traps, motels, strip malls and mini-golf courses and elbow-to-elbow tourists. At least the beach there is undeveloped, because it is a national park.

On the way home, we made a detour into Nova Scotia to get a look at Bay of Fundy tides. As we passed one little fishing village, we stopped to take photos of a waterfront pier, loaded with about a dozen unmanned pickup trucks. The eye-catching thing about it was that the pier stood about 20 feet above the mud flat. A fishing boat somewhat larger than a standard New England lobster boat was tied up at the end of the pier and sitting in the mud. The mud flat extended at least a half mile down the bay and around the end of a peninsula; the ocean was out of sight around the end of the peninsula. I guess the pickup trucks belonged to fishermen who went out with the tide and would hopefully return with the next high tide.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

I received a call from my friend Susan Kilduff last Tuesday afternoon. She was grocery shopping in Concord, Mass., where she works. She said the outside temperature was 100 degrees at 3 p.m. It almost seemed that hot here in Newry.

The North Newry Church was a very busy place this past weekend. On Saturday, at 1 p.m., a wedding was performed uniting Jennifer Moore of Bethel and Parker Gray of Newry. On Sunday morning the regular 9 a.m. church service was held.

On Saturday, I went over to the Andover Olde Home Weekend. There were lots of booths and tables and foods to choose from, not only on the common, but along each side of Main Street. The exhibits were interesting and I especially enjoyed the photos done by the younger contestants. I just had to see the counter made from the old bowling alley lane; it truly is beautiful. Along with that perfection, the weather cooperated as well for the days' events.

After visiting with the Ketchers and Thurston's from Massachusetts, Maine and Vermont at the Dresser residence, I headed over to Roxbury Pond to see Saul and Johan. The waves were really high on the pond, bringing in a good breeze. Luckily their camp is on a point. Johan has spent most all of her summers there as the summer place originally belonged to her grandparents, the LaBosiere's from Mexico.

Puzzle Mountain Bakery, which is located on Route 26 about a mile before the church, is doing well this summer. The bakery offers a variety of pies. Recently a very attractive building styled after a Nova Scotia cottage was constructed, where the pies are baked. Stop by for a look-see and purchase.

The Barry residence on the Branch Road had inhabitants whom I waved to on Sunday. On my way down the Branch Road I stopped in to say hello to Kay Eames from Cape Elizabeth, who was here with her daughter, Bonnie, and husband, Keith Bowden, from Melrose, Mass., along with their two nieces, Danielle and Crystal Kirkland from Coventry, R.I. Cecile Sarette and Sam Eames from Manchester, N.H., were also here visiting and enjoying the wonderful weekend.

While visiting Kay and Bonnie I was told that Kay's husband, Rodney, was born on the property. Kay had put together a very interesting photo book of the Eames' property showing the original home, which has undergone many changes. She even had a picture of the sawmill over the Branch Brook Falls, which I had heard about. Parts of the stonework are pretty much intact at the top of the beautiful falls. Bonnie helped make many copies of the photos and book for each family member. Lots of history in this area.

Sympathy is extended to Richard and Pat Kimball with the recent loss of their granddaughter, Melissa Sylvester.

Diane Howe's granddaughter, Savannah, has horseback riding lessons at a school in Albany with Diane Ward and is becoming a good horsewoman.

Jason Coolidge and Bekka Howe with baby, Kimball, have moved into their new home.

Paul and Charlotte Kimball enjoyed Olde Home Days in Andover on Aug. 6.

This past weekend was lovely, sunny and dry air. I wish everyone a good week. God Bless the Troops.

Bryant Pond

by Alice Hoyt
At the Whitman Memorial Library on Saturday, Aug. 19, from 10 to 11 a.m.

there will be a special event to wrap up the summer program. It is for the story hour children, but will be open to the public, also. There is no charge. Dana Perkins, a magician and ventriloquist will be the guest.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting. The Church celebrated their 150-year anniversary with a good crowd both Saturday and Sunday. There was a guest speaker and a musical group, a family of nine, who were outstanding both singing and playing instruments. There was beautiful weather, games, horse rides, bouncy house, dunk tank, barbecues and plenty of time for fellowship and to hear the word of the Lord both in speakers and music. A lot of work went into this; much thanks to all.

Judith Grover Tent 17 will meet on Monday, Aug. 14, for a regular meeting at 7 p.m. at the Grange Hall.

News from Mrs. Neiberle: Well, what a summer, if it is not raining it is so humid. This is why fall is a good season. Cool and breezy. Perfect for sleeping, working and breathing.

Five new goslings came last month. They are already swimming and keeping up with the other geese. We also had a killdeer lay and hatch eggs (four in all); as soon as they hatched they were up and walking. I do not know if you know but a killdeer lays eggs on stone driveways because the eggs are speckled and look like stones. We put up a metal ring around the nest and hoped to protect it from anyone driving over it. Once hatched, they left.

More news from Mrs. Neiberle: Went to see the fireworks on Mollycoddett Day in Bethel. Thanks to Bethel Inn for allowing the public to enjoy sitting on the golf course to watch the fireworks. Also, thanks to Bethel for the awesome fireworks. My family enjoyed the whole day of activities. Thanks to all that helped make it a good day for all.

I saw a new sign on Route 26 just past Paris Road going to Bethel. "Earth Hearts Gardens." It sells herbs, plants, etc. It is on the right side.

Had dinner with Nancy Willard last week. What a beautiful view from her deck of Lake Christopher. There was Babe Bartlett, Betty Ann Hastings, Karen Yartistis, and Ruth Feeney. It was good to be able to tell Ruth what a wonderful job cleaning she and her husband did on an old gravestone I saw on Memorial Day. The name and dates were readable, whereas before they were unreadable. Good job.

There are two new telephone poles at the beginning of Cushman Road.

There are two new colts at George Hooper's farm. Thanks for the news.

On Thursday evening, Marilyn and Bob Giles and Alice and Ken Hoyt took Bob Hoyt to the Sedgley Place to celebrate his birthday.

Someone ran into the Grange Hall last Friday night, took down a porch pole and took some boards off the hall and drove off. The car should not be hard to find, as I do not believe they have any glass left in the windshield or windows, the porch and ground are covered with glass.

Kathleen Bean and curator Larry Billings watched the Museum at the Historical Society recently. Geraniums decorated the room. Three people were in. History Day will be on Aug. 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be a food sale, tours, a flea market and crafts. Everyone is welcome.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Library News: A summer story hour is being held at Whitman Memorial Library. About 11 or 12 children are attending. Valerie Billings reported that Ciara Nadeau has been volunteering and doing a great job with stories and crafts. They would like to have two groups next year, one for pre-school and one for older children. On Aug. 19 they will be having a special event to wrap up their summer program. It is specifically for the story hour children, but will be open to the public as well. Dana Perkins, magician and ventriloquist will be the guest on the 19th. This will be from 10 to 11 a.m. Mark your calendar.

Monthly programs for adults will be starting up on the second Thursday of September and local author Nancy Draper will be the first guest.

You can visit the library and enjoy the paintings of a local artist, Elena Noyes, on display right now.

Bob Lisante paid us a visit one afternoon this past week. He is in Maine for a while visiting friends and relatives. Bob lives in North Dakota and tries to come to Maine each summer for a visit. We were glad to have him stop by and let us know how he is doing. Bob worked in the Soil Conservation Office when I worked in the agricultural office in South Paris several years ago. We have always kept in touch.

Happy birthday to those celebrating in August. They are: Pres. Clinton, Travis Cox, Wesley Cox, Rachel Curtis, Beverly Dayton, Gordon Dillingham, Kay Nickel, Pat Lawrence, Bad Record, Burnie Rice and Beverly Stevens. A special birthday wish to my brother, Phelps Poland, and sister-in-law, Claribel Poland. I hope you all have a happy day.

Quote of the Week: "I have learned that after being on a diet for two weeks, all I lose is 14 days."

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. The cooler weather has been a nice respite from the heat we've been enduring this summer. Many gardens have suffered, though, due to the lack of sunshine and all of the rain, but, many flower gardens still have their bloom.

Thursday is another of the church's great suppers, starting at 5:30 p.m. The food is always great, and the company wonderful. We hope you'll be able to make it.

The Albany Improvement Association's Yard Sale is this Saturday, starting at 9 a.m., in the Albany Town Hall. It's still not too late if you have any good, saleable items (please, no clothing or books) to donate. If you do, give Buzzy Lapham a call at 824-2568.

Recent visitors to Bud Bowden's log cabin at the top of the hill were his granddaughter, Leah, and her family. Leah and Glenn Gross and their children, Bethany and Evan, of Oolitic, Ind., spent July 2nd through the 6th with Bud. Leah is the daughter of Judith Coletta of Woonsocket, R.I. They all had a wonderful time, and everyone especially enjoyed a very memorable 4th of July celebration at the

GREENWOOD & WOODSTOCK YOUTH FOOTBALL REGISTRATION

Area youth entering grades 3 through 8 this coming fall who are interested in youth football may now register for their respective teams. Registration for the Greenwood Spartans (grades 3 through 6) may be done at the Greenwood Town Office and for the Woodstock Wolfpack (grades 7 and 8) please go to the Woodstock Town Office.

Registration fees and uniform fees are the same for both sets of teams: a $25 registration and equipment reconditioning fee (includes team t-shirt) and a $50 uniform fee which is for the game jersey and game pants which the players keep when the season is over. All other uniform and equipment items are provided by Greenwood Regional Youth Football and Woodstock Youth Football respectively.

Practice schedules will be announced when the youth league sets the final playing schedule, however practice will commence during August.

The Greenwood Spartans are allowed 15 practice sessions before their first game, but once school starts they are limited to only 4 hours of practice per week (league rules), so before this they will have practice Mondays through Thursdays for 2 hours per session from 5 to 7 in the afternoon at the Greenwood ball field on Howe Hill Road. Also, the Spartans are divided into two age groups which are a 3rd and 4th grade team and a 5th and 6th grade team.

The Woodstock Wolfpack (7th and 8th grade) will be playing a multiple scrimmage format likely against the middle school junior varsity teams from Mountain Valley and Oxford Hills with a possible game to end the season against a future class 'C' foe in the region. This will facilitate a controlled learning environment to help our players acquire knowledge of the game and start developing needed skills that other football programs have already achieved. A meeting will occur in the first part of August to give parents a chance to meet the coaches, hear more details and ask questions. Please leave your name and a number where you can be reached at the Woodstock town office and you will be contacted when plans for the meeting are finalized. The practice format for the Wolfpack will be the same as for the Spartans with the exception that they will practice 4 times per week even after school starts, but for 1.5 hour sessions instead of 2 hours.

On Sept. 2, the Roxbury ATV Riders will be holding the 2nd annual Donald E. Ryerson Memorial Poker Run. Donald was the son of Wanda Worthley and Craig Ryerson. He was killed in a car accident at the age of 18 on Aug. 2, 2002. Donald loved ATVer and if he were here today would be involved in everything the club is doing. We will need volunteers for this event. Funds raised from this event go to the Donald E. Ryerson Children's Memorial Fund.

Important Notice to Trail Users

From Aug. 11 to Aug. 20, the Cross State Trail Riders, Inc. in conjunction with the Ellis River Riders of Andover will be holding events at the Grimaldi Field in Andover and will also be trail riding during this time period. They will be using the local trails on a daily basis. There will be route markers (surveyors' tape and arrows) showing the designated trails. As you know, we have been promoting our trails as multi-use trails.

Some of our trails are not very wide and it would be greatly appreciated that when you see and approach riders and horses on the trail that you, the ATV rider, will pull over to the right as far as possible, stop and shut your machine off. Some of these horses may be just fine around machinery and equipment, but please don't test these animals just to see what they will do. Give this group the respect they deserve and give them the right of way so they can truly enjoy their time here.

A sign will be posted at the Roxbury Park-N-Ride on what day and which trail they will be using for that day. We will try to get this posted in the stores. If you need any further info on this you can call Victor at 392-1088.

Club 50/50 was won by Dick Tyler who donated it back to the club.

Door prize winners: Wendy Annis and Matt Morin.

Meeting adjourned at 7:10 p.m.

Remember the date Aug. 11-Aug. 20. Check the sign at the Roxbury ATV Riders to see what trail will be used by both horse riding clubs. Also don't forget to mark Sept. 2nd for the Donald E. Ryerson Poker Run. Till then ride safe and with all this wet weather be respectful of the trails, those using them and those who let us use their land.

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

THE ISSUE OF PRICE

Pricing a house is the most important part of the marketing process. You want to get as much for the property as you can, but if you set the price too high, you can frighten off qualified purchasers. Your Realtor can tell you the selling price of homes similar to yours. Pricing strategy depends on market conditions, and it is different in a buyers' market than it is in a sellers' market.

If your home is overpriced, the marketplace will reflect that to you. When a property fails to sell in a reasonable period of time, you and your Realtor should have a frank discussion to determine whether too high a price tag is the reason. Your Realtor will also be getting feedback from other Realtors who have shown your home.

Remember that price is only one factor. You might consider ways you can make the property easier for Realtors to show or make cosmetic fix-ups that are needed. You should also discuss the current market conditions. The problem may be some combination of factors, including an overly optimistic asking price.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771
